

Your guide to staying active in pregnancy

- Physical activity in pregnancy is safe and healthy
- Being active benefits you and your baby
- Stay active: 30 minutes a day, 4 times a week

Exercising increases the blood flow to the placenta. This is great for your baby's growth and development.

Activity ideas

Always chat with your instructor or midwife to make sure activities work for you

Trimester 1 1 to 12 weeks

- If already active, continue as usual.
- If new to exercise start gently and build up - walking is a good start.
- Don't exercise in very hot conditions.
- Avoid contact sports throughout pregnancy to prevent your bump being bumped.

Trimester 2 13 to 28 weeks

- Keep going! Regular exercise make you feel better and less tired.
- Make sure you can hold a conversation. Being breathless when you talk means you are working too hard.
- Don't lie on your back for longer than a few minutes.
- Avoid stomach crunches and sit-ups.

Trimester 3 29 to 40 weeks

- Gentle swimming, walking and dancing are great.
- In the gym, cycling and rowing are gentle on your bump.
- Listen to your body - if it feels good, keep it up; if it is uncomfortable, stop and seek advice!
- Drink plenty of water.

Exercise helps prevent...

- headaches
- stress and depression
- tiredness
- pelvic pain
- backache
- constipation
- cramps and swollen feet

What's my activity goal this week?

This week, ask yourself:

- Who with?
- Which days, at what time?
- What type of activity?
- Single session or short bursts today?
- How will I reward myself?
